

Michael Guidry

9/22/2017

Intellectual property theft, rape, drugs, and US intelligence agencies

I had previously contacted congress using a broadcast fax in 2016. I am sure that it didn't reach everyone, although some were successful. It was a United Nations Human & Civil rights complaint. I had left out a few things such as being raped. I didn't expect circumstances in my life to continue as if nobody had been notified. The people involved had the nerve to drug me, and commit rape against me at least three times since that initial fax. The first time situations such as this had taken place I was fifteen years old in Louisiana. I guess child molestation, rape, and drugging without someone's consent isn't something that the elected officials of congress deem important? There was also the situation of FBI entrapment of a minor taken all of the way to grand jury in Pittsburgh. I expected it to be of importance since it involves the intelligence agencies that you oversee, and relates to military funding that you distribute. I am quite shocked that it seems to be business as usual. I have also been continuously drugged since the fax as well.

Let's move on to a different topic. Let's pick one that doesn't have so many possible ways of dodging due to evidence, etc. I have a lot of evidence regarding these situations, and other particular facts which I have decided to keep private to ensure I didn't harm anyone undercover. I will look towards requiring reprimands of surveillance units, or other agents of the United States government even in my vicinity during these rapes, and such.

Intellectual property theft was another major factor in my life, although it wasn't as time sensitive as being drugged. I understand it is a business scenario although I am positive United States intelligence agencies were a critical part of the theft. I said in the first fax that two multibillion dollar corporations were using my stolen intellectual property. I didn't give specifics because I didn't expect to get drugged a year and a half after I first contacted congress. Microsoft has stolen a security technology I designed several years ago, and is now using it on billions of computers. Microsoft calls it control flow graph, and you can easily research many different sources of information on Google. Control flow graph is one of the reasons Windows 10 is more secure than the previous versions. I had not given Microsoft any ability to use my technology whatsoever. I was awaiting a patent before I would even proceed to use it in a corporation myself.

Tanium is another corporation using a different technology that I had developed. It is another security technology which allows you to detect computer intrusions in a different way than what had previously existed. Tanium was evaluated as a unicorn, or more than a billion dollars, using my stolen intellectual property. It seems that there is no crime too big, or small for these government employees to take into their own hands. I hypothesize that you can dig into these two situations further if you had issues with the other more personal but important circumstances. Isn't it the United States government that you are creating policies for? The country where everyone is supposed to have human, and civil rights.

Several crimes in my life were committed using false identities as well. It is easy to determine due to backgrounds of the people being different from the average person. I have a way to determine, or find any undercover although I decided it would be bad to release on any type of scale since it could harm others. Are these the types of situations that congress is allowing to take place by intelligence agencies in this country? It is also taking place against a United States citizen. If congress doesn't have any type of control over these agencies, then how are the people supposed to trust them to protect America as a whole? Everything I know about these situations state that someone must believe it is justified if the situations are continuing to take place an entire year and a half after I notified congress to begin with.

Is it acceptable that US intelligence agencies are creating fabricated identities to commit crimes against United States citizens, and companies? I find it absurd that anyone in the United States government had the nerve, or ability to affect my life since being a child. It is even more up hauling that it continues into my thirties.

URL to prior faxes, and documents:

<http://mikeguidry.net/releases/>